TERRITORY TO FIGHT RAISE OF ALASKA RATES

Territorial Shipping Board
Will Oppose Proposal to Add 20 Per Cent. to Freight Rates

The Alaska Territorial Shipping Board will oppose further increase in the freight and passenger rates on Alaska routes. It will fight the request for a 20 per cent additional rate at this time. It will take this stand, pending the collation of data upon which to base further action.

The Alaska Territorial Shipping Board is investigating the facts with reference to Alaska transportation, and until its work is completed it will not attempt to arrive at a decision as to its course of action to meet the situation in the north. It is expected that it will complete its work before the end of the present year.

Raises Have Been Continuous. If the proposed 20 per cent increase in freight rates is allowed, it will make a raise of nearly 300 per cent in a little over three years. The first raise came in April, 1916, and they have been continuous since that time.

In the spring of 1916 the basic freight rate to Juneau was $4 a ton. At the present time it is $9 a ton, and it is now proposed to raise this 20 per cent, making the rate about $11. In the meantime, the classifications have been changed so that many articles of general consumption which formerly were carried at the base rate have taken on higher rates.

We think some of the tales of Alaska's resources and capabilities would have tempted the late Theodore Roosevelt to say "Nature faker." But this is a true one, and can be proven. Mr. Matlin, of Ward's Cove, planted two kennels of barley. They are now three and one-half feet high, and have thirty-one shoots, with sixty grains in each head.—(Ketchikan Times.)

Dr. Thomas Runnalls, who spent the years of his childhood and his earliest school days at Skagway, has been installed there as surgeon for the White Pass, a position formerly held by his father, the late Dr. H. B. Runnalls. The latter was one of the founders of Skagway and conducted the first postoffice there.

BRINGING UP FATHER

HUNTING BIG GAME

Ralph Edmunds, magazine writer and retired capitalist, E. C. Phelbrook, moving picture man, and Henry Katony, Japanese moving picture camera man, all of Los Angeles, California, arrived in Whitehorse the latter part of last week and left the next day for the headwaters of the McMillan river to hunt for big game trophies and to secure photographs of moose, bear and other wild animals. They will attempt to get moving pictures of wild animals in the forest.
